iVote Will Present at The European Venture Summit 2013

iVote will present at the European Venture Summit that will take place in Dusseldorf, Germany on 9-10 December. As the winner of Balkan Venture Forum, iVote is invited to pitch its business potential in front of international audience of investors, venture capital experts, business angels and corporate representatives. The EVS is organized by Europe Unlimited and hosted by the Ministry of Innovation, Science and Research of the German State of North Rhine-Westphalia and the City of Dusseldorf along with Silver Sponsors NRW Bank, Mobicap Ventures and DealMarket.

This is the most important investment event in Europe, where prospective, innovative companies are matched with potential investors. iVote's advanced IT solutions in the field of elections management, e-commerce, e-learning and mobile applications technology will have the chance to be shown in front of reputed industry experts and investors.

"We are honoured that we are invited to attend at this prestigious event. This is a tremendous opportunity for our company to spur international attention and recognition. Building professional business network with other companies, potential investors and industry experts increases the chances for further preferment and expansion to the global marketplace," said Ljupcho Antovski, the COO of iVote.

More than 100 international investors are attending EVS to review company presentations and looking for deal-flow and partnerships. Only 25 companies will be selected to present at the European Venture Contest.
